On-Site Nurses and Paramedics That Truly Make a Difference In Your Workplace.

On-Site First Aid Station

A Proven System for Success

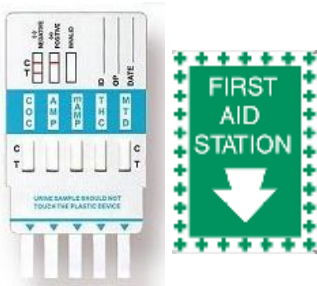

Medical Professionals are selected and assigned to your workplace based on background and experience.

Special training/orientation is provided to all medical professionals to sharpen their focus on injury management including recordability, workers' compensation, fraud, and disability/lost time.

An independent medical facility (typically mobile office) is delivered to the site, equipped with all necessary supplies and equipment, and set-up to facilitate effective treatment.

Standard treatment protocol and documentation including 24 hour toll-free support by occupational nurses is provided to assure quality service and uniformity.

The performance of on-site medical professionals is constantly monitored through weekly statistics measured against benchmarks.

Occupational Injury Case Management That Is Fair To The Employer Through Medical Provider Management.

Injury Case Management

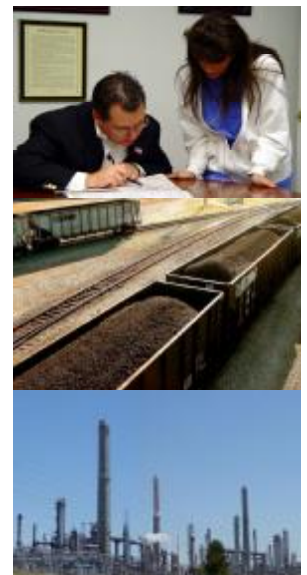

Select and maintain quality multi-specialty medical providers that avoid unnecessary medical diagnoses and treatment while supporting light/modified duty to keep employees working.

Constantly review and police medical decisions made by providers to identify abuse or wasteful allocation of resources.

Efficiently set physician appointments with medical providers and communicate these arrangements with employees.

Track injuries and maintain uniform paperwork in a central location that may be accessed by your designees.

Obtain experienced professional advice on managing injuries in the field including the decision to seek off-site medical treatment.

On-Site Testing and Professional Guidance Makes Your Program Fair, Effective, and Less Expensive.
